

Saskatchewan Applied Science Technologists and Technicians (SASTT)
RETIRED MEMBERSHIP

Retired membership may be awarded to members who have retired from the applied science and engineering technology profession and meet specific criteria as outlined in the Association policy. Retired does not include those who have left applied science or engineering technology and are working in other fields. Retired members are required to advise SASTT in writing upon returning to employment in the applied science or engineering technology profession.

A member who has been designated by the Board of Directors as a Retired Member shall remit an annual fee of one-half of the annual membership fee (as stated in subsection 15.1(1)(a) SASTT Administrative Bylaws).

1. RETIRED MEMBERSHIP GUIDELINES

A SASTT member must meet the following criteria to be eligible for Retired Member status:

- a. be a current member who is retired from the practice of applied science / engineering technology prior to December 31;
- b. does not expect to return to the work force;
- c. the member's income is strictly derived from pension or investments ONLY;
- d. retired does not include those who have left the applied science / engineering technology profession and are working in other fields of employment or in any form of self-employment or consulting.

NOTE: Any activities that are technological in nature, and / or any employment, self-employment, or consulting, or any similar endeavour would be considered employment and therefore not eligible for Retired membership status.

Members are required to advise SASTT in writing upon returning to employment.

A request for Retired Membership status should take the form of completion of the attached application form or a letter directed to the Registrar, affirming that the applicant complies with all the criteria. Members are required to submit a written statement indicating the date of retirement. Once approved by the Board of Directors, the member will be invoiced for one-half of the current annual professional fee.
